The Lost Creek Ranch offering and our personal connections we form at the ranch are of great importance to us. For this reason, our preference is to communicate directly with guests.

Cancellations:

All parties are afforded the opportunity to cancel on or before February 1, 2023 with a full refund. After February 1st, Lost Creek Ranch will refund only for the portion of your reservation that we are able to rebook. No credit will be allowed for absences during the reserved time or for departure ahead of the check-out date.

We understand that cancellations arise and will do our best to rebook the cabin with enough notice. If the cabin is unable to be rebooked, guests will forfeit the 50 percent non-refundable deposit unless we are able to refill the entire space.

What it means to visit Rural Wyoming and embrace the rustic charm:

Located in renowned Jackson Hole, Lost Creek Ranch has been a guest ranch since 1926. This nearly hundred-year-old property is located between Bridger Teton National Forest and Grand Teton National Park and is a log timber construction. During the summer months mosquitos, flies, pollen, high temperatures and the occasional mouse seeking interior spaces are common occurrences. Your cabin is outfitted with screens, fans, complimentary bug spray and sunscreen. While we do our very best to combat mother nature's challenges, we kindly request your attention to the seasonal conditions and prepare for them before arrival. The cabins are not air conditioned nor do they have good cell or Wi-Fi coverage. While both are available in the main lodge and on the office porch, we believe your time here serves as an opportunity to unplug and reconnect with family, friends and nature. We hope with this information you are prepared for your trip and take advantage of our expansive grounds and incredible view from the ranch.
